MERCURY TUMBLES TO 11 IN MARION

Cold Wave Covers Large Area of West and North.

Thermometers in Marion skidded to a low of 11 degrees last night as cold weather chilled an area of the country from Colorado to Maine and dropped temperatures to midwinter levels. By 8 o'clock this morning, the mercury had risen three degrees to 14.

Increasing cloudiness and not quite so cold tonight was the forecast issued for today by the Columbus weather bureau, with Saturday to be cloudy and slightly milder followed by some snow.

High temperature recorded in Marion between 8 a. m. yesterday and the same time today was 31. A year ago, thermometers registered a high of 36 and a low of 17.

The mercury tumbled to 25 below in Cadillac, Mich., according to an Associated Press dispatch, as clear, cold weather covered the northern and eastern sections of the nation. Readings of below zero were reported from New England across much of the Great Lakes area to eastern North Dakota and along the continental divide from Montana to northeastern New Mexico.

ONE KILLED IN BLAST AT PITTSBURGH PLANT

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, March 5 — At least one man was killed in an explosion at the plant of the Denholm Packing Co.

An undetermined number were injured by the blast, which reportedly occurred in an ammonia tank. All available ambulances were rushed to the scene and two fire alarms were sounded.

R. L. Weaver, co-owner of a nearby auto appliance store, said the plant engineer, James Bell, had been killed by the blast.

"I don't know how many were injured but there must have been more than 10," Weaver said. "Some fellows were trapped in the building but there was no fire I could see—just a terrific explosion."

The injured were taken to the Pittsburgh hospital, only a few hundred feet from the packing plant. About 100 employes fled to safety after the explosion rocked the four-story building in the busy East Liberty section. Some of them escaped down firemen's ladders. Ammonia fumes spread over the neighborhood, and several windows were shattered.

Firemen entering the building donned gas masks and smoke-protective equipment. A nearby resident said several women were carried from the building bleeding from cuts.

The former monarch told reporters before his departure that "I am very hopeful that one day I will return to my country." His mother, Queen Helen, accompanied him.

Mihai declared yesterday that his recent abdication had been forced and that he would not be bound by it.

The statement is expected to stir up political anger against him in Romania and possibly result in cutting off his income.

5 Injured As 2 Cars Crash

Kin Hurt While Awaiting Surprise "Belling" of Another in Family.

Five persons were injured in a head on collision between cars driven by two brothers-in-law last night as they awaited a surprise "belling" for a third brother-in-law, state highway patrolmen reported today.

The accident occurred, patrolmen said, at 7:30 p. m. on county road 120 one mile north of Prospect. Luther Hedges, 31, of near Radnor was sitting in his parked car with his wife Dorothy, 29, and daughter Carol Jean, aged 2½ years, with the headlights of the car turned off, awaiting the arrival of friends.

Walter Threlfall, 27, of near Prospect, with his wife, Ruth, 24, and son Ronald, 3, had driven past the Paul Fox home, 1½ miles north of Prospect and seeing no other celebrants awaiting the "belling" turned his car head lights off and kept driving until, not seeing the parked Hedges car, the two cars crashed, head on.

Injured were Dorothy Hedges, head injuries; Carol Jean Hedges, shock; Walter Threlfall, injuries of both knees, lacerations of lips and left ear; Ruth Threlfall, head injuries; Ronald Threlfall, lacerations.

The injured were taken to City hospital by C. M. Briggs of 589 Girard avenue, a passing motorist. Both cars were considerably damaged by the collision.

According to an accident report in the police station, a bicycle ridden by Jimmy was struck by an unidentified woman motorist in the first alley south of the Big Bear grocery store on North Main street at 4 p. m. Wednesday, and resulted in $15 damage to the bike. The woman handed the uninjured boy a dollar bill and drove away without bothering to report the accident to police.

BODY OF MARION OFFICER REBURIED

Lt. Jess A. Quigley Now Interred in Belgium Cemetery.

A letter from the War Department received recently by Mrs. Lillian Quigley of 219 West Church street contained an official report on the burial of her son, 2nd Lt. Jess A. Quigley, 20, reported missing in action over Austria on Aug. 25, 1944.

The report stated the body of Lt. Quigley originally was interred in the St. Leonhard Am Forst civilian cemetery in Austria, but was later disinterred and moved to a more appropriate location where constant care and protection can be given the honored dead.

He is now buried in Plot AA, Row 8, Grave No. 197 in the U. S. Military cemetery, Neuville-en-Condroz, located nine miles southwest of Liege, Belgium.

Positive identification was substantiated by markings on clothing corresponding with the name on the identification tag, the report stated.

Lt. Quigley served with the Army Air Force as a pilot of a Mustang P-51, entering service Feb. 15, 1943. His brother, Don L. Quigley, a major and fighter pilot with the 14th Army Air Force in China, also was reported missing in action in August of 1944, but later information revealed he was a prisoner of war in Japan. He returned home in the fall of 1945.

Former CIO Officer Sentenced for Perjury

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 5—Harold Christoffel, former CIO union officer in Milwaukee, today was sentenced to serve from two to six years in prison for denying under oath he was a Communist.

Before sentencing Christoffel, Federal District Judge Edward M. Curran turned down a request by O'John Rogge, chief of defense counsel, for a new trial.

The defendant, grim-faced, replied "No, sir," when asked by Curran whether he had anything to say before sentence was passed.

Christoffel is a former president of local 248, of the United Auto Workers at the Milwaukee plant of the Allis-Chalmers company.

He was convicted on six counts of perjury before the house labor committee a year ago.

Christoffel testified he had never been a Communist or had connections with the Communist party.

CONSERVATION WEEK AND ARBOR DAY PROCLAIMED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, March 5—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert yesterday issued a proclamation designating the week of April 10 as conservation week in Ohio schools and April 23 as Arbor and Bird day.

"Ohio must continue to hold its important place in the nation as a leader in the conservation and restoration of our natural resources of soil, water, forests, minerals and wildlife," the governor's proclamation said.

F. E. Wiedemann, Barber For "Front Porch" Campaign, Dies

Frank E. "Scrap" Wiedemann, 75, of 197 East Washington avenue, a barber here for nearly 50 years, died at 12:08 a. m. today in the Marion City hospital. He was admitted to the hospital Feb. 25 and underwent a major operation that night.

During the Harding "front porch" campaign of 1920 he maintained a barber chair at the campaign headquarters adjoining the Harding home on Mt. Vernon avenue. Throughout that summer he barbered Mr. Harding who later was to become president, men whose names made news of the day and newspapermen from all sections of the country. In that period he probably barbered for more famous persons than any barber outside Washington.

A native of Upper Sandusky he was the son of Edward Wiedemann, a native of Germany and Hannah Schaefer Wiedemann whose birthplace was Sycamore. He attended the Upper Sandusky schools and later learned the barber trade in that city.

FINNS OPPOSE MILITARY PACT

Favor, However, Opening Negotiations for Friendship Treaty.

By The Associated Press

HELSINKI, FINLAND, March 5—Two minority parties announced their opposition today to entering into a military alliance with Russia. Their stand means that parties representing a majority of the members of parliament now are aligned against such a tie.

The minority parties—the conservatives and the liberals—joined other parties and blocs, however, in approving the opening of negotiations with the Soviet union on a friendship and mutual assistance pact as suggested last week by Prime Minister Stalin.

The final decision on the answer to Russia now rests with President Juho Paasikivi, a statesman with long experience in dealing with the Russians. Parliament would be required to ratify any treaty after its conclusion.

The conservatives, with 29 seats in parliament, and the liberals, with nine, will deliver their formal response to the president today. The Social Democrats, with 48 seats, and the Swedish party, with 15, already have recommended to Paasikivi that he appoint a delegation to negotiate. Together, the four represent 101 of parliament's 200 seats.

The popular front, of Communists and Radical Socialists, has urged acceptance of negotiations toward a full military pact. They have 51 parliamentary seats.

The Agrarians, who hold the other 48 seats, are expected to make their stand public some time today.

There were some unconfirmed reports that the president already has drafted his reply to Stalin.

GENERAL MEYERS IN NEW ROLE AT FIRE

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, March 3—Maj. Gen. Bennett M. Meyers, who was branded by Army superiors as a "disgrace to the union," was a hero today to residents of the fashionable Stoneleigh Court apartments.

The retired air force purchasing officer, who is on trial here for subornation of perjury, turned in the alarm when fire broke out last night in the 112-apartment building.

Then Meyers and an elevator operator seized fire extinguishers and battled the flames until firemen arrived. They were credited with confining the blaze to an eighth-floor suite.

Among the residents who fled to the street were Sen. Clyde M. Reed, (R) of Kansas, and Mrs. W. J. Bulow, wife of the former senator from South Dakota.

One woman, Mrs. Hazel Hamilton, died in the blaze. She was the mother of Mrs. Jane Hamilton MacCauley, assistant director of the women's division of the Republican national committee, and a sister-in-law of the former GOP national chairman John D. M. Hamilton.

Meyers was conferring with his defense counsel in an eighth floor room when the fire was discovered and they were preparing their cross-examination of Mrs. Mildred Lamarre, the one-time campus beauty who Meyers says was his "girl friend" for five years. Mrs. Lamarre was to be recalled to the stand when Meyers' federal court trial resumed this afternoon.

The comely brunet witness was called by the prosecution to corroborate the testimony of her husband, B. H. Lamarre, that Meyers persuaded him to lie to senate investigators about his activities with an Ohio subcontracting plant.

During her brief appearance on the stand yesterday, Mrs. Lamarre was not questioned about the alleged romance with Meyers. But that was expected to come up during the cross-examination.

Students Hear Views from Red To Right in Mock Congress

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 5—American college students held a mock congress today to work out a policy towards Russia.

The budding statesmen got viewpoints ranging from Communist to far right wing at a foreign policy hearing last night. The public hearing by a committee of 15 students marked the opening of Ohio State university's three-day conference on public affairs.

Delegates from 35 schools split up today into three parties—right of center, center, and left of center. Committees went to work on all angles of the question: What should be United States policy toward Russia?

Tomorrow a general assembly will attempt by parliamentary procedure to agree on some kind of policy. Wesley Vernon of Ohio State, chairman of the committee on hearings, said parliamentary organization would be completed today.

Have Ticket Written

"If you were in Russia, you would have one of Uncle Joe's boys writing the ticket for you," Lewis G. Hines of the American Federation of Labor told the collegians at the public hearing.

He said the Communists had made the unions in this country "their first objective." The AFL, he reported, "has been pretty well cleaned out of Communists."

The ornate walls of Ohio's state office building's main hearing room echoed for the first time to the Marxist philosophy. It came from Joseph Starobin, of New York, foreign editor of the Daily Worker.

Starobin said he represented the American Communist viewpoint and not Russia's. Hines had asserted that the Communist party in the United States is the agent of a foreign government.

Starobin told the collegians he wanted to "deny flatly that we are 'agents of a foreign power' and to warn you against this poisonous conception." He called for a reversal of America's policy towards Russia.

Favors Wallace Plan

Oliver S. Loud, Antioch college physics professor and atomic scientist, spoke for the "Progressive Citizens of America." He declared "We should replace the men in Washington with authentic representatives of the people."

"The Marshall plan," he said, "must be replaced with the Wallace plan. We should lead the family of nations away from destruction."

Samuel S. Wyer, representing the Columbus committee of the "Council for Democracy," told the committee "we must refuse to compromise with an evil thing like Communism."

TRUMAN AVERTS OAK RIDGE STRIKE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 5—AFL unions, bowing to a plea by President Truman, today put off strike plans for at least two weeks at atomic bomb laboratories in Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The President, before leaving Key West, Fla., to return to the capital, took the first step provided in the Taft-Hartley act for dealing with a national emergency strike threat. He said he was naming a board of inquiry and would ask it to report by March 19.

It was the first time Mr. Truman had made such a move under the act passed over his veto last June 23.

The AFL unions represent about 900 workers at one of Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corporation's Oak Ridge plants. The workers had been set to walk out at midnight tonight after weeklong contract negotiations seemed hopelessly stalled.

The Carbide and Carbon firm took over the Monsanto Chemical Co. at the Tennessee atomic plant last Monday. The unions had a contract with Monsanto which expired when that company ended its Oak Ridge operations.

A company-union agreement worked out by federal conciliators earlier this week extended its terms until midnight tonight.

The AFL unions are reported to be asking for a wage boost of 18 cents an hour, plus 3½ cents an hour in other benefits.

Relative Sought In Slaying of Recluse

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., March 5 — Authorities today sought an unnamed relative of Mrs. Laura Blue, slain 80-year-old recluse, for questioning in her brutal death.

Detective Lt. Paul C. Geralds admitted the search for the relative as Coroner A. P. McDonald disclosed an autopsy showed the aged woman may have been strangled.

The body was found yesterday in the basement of her junk-filled home by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Baugh. The Baughs customarily breakfasted with the supposedly wealthy old woman.

Adhesive tape covered the victim's mouth. Dr. McDonald said apparently she died of suffocation and a fractured skull. Throat bruises, he added, indicated she may have been strangled.

Detective Sgt. Rudy Rado said Mrs. Blue's home was crammed with "junk." A search uncovered some money, he said, but nothing near the $25,000 to $30,000 she was supposed to have concealed

Political Refugees Picket Soviet Exhibit

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 5—Russian vodka and caviar, American manhattans and martinis, and international polite talk were blended last night as the Soviet Union opened an exhibit at Rockefeller Center.

Outside, pickets who said they were Lithuanian political refugees, marched with placards.

"We protest the Soviet exhibit of lies," the pickets' signs proclaimed as the USSR opened its first large-scale exhibition in the U.S. since the war.

The exhibits charted the course of the Soviet since the revolution of three decades ago.

Soviet Ambassador Alexander Panyushkin, making his first public appearance in New York, was

NATCHEZ SINKS IN MISSISSIPPI

Boat Swept Into Bridge by Treacherous Eddy, Goes Down in Minute.

By The Associated Press

GREENVILLE, Miss., March 5 —Thirteen crewmen were dead or missing today after the 160-foot towboat Natchez rammed into a bridge, turned over and sank in the swollen Mississippi river.

Federal barge line officials at St. Louis said 13 of the crew of 26 were known survivors. Two bodies were recovered.

The towboat Sohio-Latonia brought 11 survivors to Greenville. Another, Engineer Louis Keeling of Greenville, was picked up far downstream, and was brought to Greenville in critical condition.

Capt. William A. Howell, master of the Sohio-Latonia, witnessed the end of the Natchez from his pilot house.

"The current caught her and rolled her over," he said, "She went down in about a minute. The men below — firemen, engineers and so on—had no chance. The men picked up were mostly deck crew."

Two Die on Rescue Boat

The Sohio-Latonia picked up nine survivors, of whom two died on board. Four other men, rescued by other boats, were transferred to the Sohio-Latonia to be brought here.

Howell said he had taken aboard all those picked up by the other boats, the Casablanca and Irene Shotan.

Howell, who lives at Cairo, Ill., said the disaster was "by far the worst" in the 12 years he has been on the river. He is 28 years old.

The young captain said he had no names of victims or survivors, except that he had picked up the Natchez pilot, Walter Haas of St. Louis.

He said he thought the master of the Natchez, Capt. John Browinski of St. Louis was missing.

"Most of the fellows didn't know what happened," he related.

Captain at Wheel

"The pilot wasn't on duty. I understand the captain was at the wheel. The pilot was asleep. They didn't know the boat had hit the bridge. They thought it had bumped against one of its barges."

The Natchez was owned by the Federal Barge Lines, but was on charter to the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio, which owns the Sohio-Latonia.

The two boats were taking tows of crude oil from Mayersville, Miss., to St. Louis.

Because the current was very swift, aggravated by high water, they were "double-tripping" the bridge between Greenville and Lake Village, Ark.—taking part of their barges through at a time, then going back for the others.

Natchez Towing Oil For Use in Ohio

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, March 5 — The towboat Natchez, which sank in the Mississippi river below Greenville, Miss., last night, was towing 60,000 barrels of oil intended for use in Ohio, it was learned here today.

D. A. Murray, general superintendent of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, told a newsman the boat was scheduled to stop in St. Louis and then proceed to Mt. Vernon, Ind. From Mt. Vernon, he added, the oil would be piped to Sohio refineries at Lima, Toledo and Cleveland.

RUSH FOR NEW AUTO PLATES SLOWS HERE

Long Line of Motorists Disappears on Fourth Day.

The first rush of auto license buyers is over, Walter C. Bailey, deputy registrar, said today as license sales neared 2,000.

Crowds of eager license seekers jammed the registrar's office at 131 North State street during the first three days after the beginning of sales of the new 1948 plates Monday. Long lines of "tag" buyers were beginning to disappear today as license sales fell. Yesterday 100 fewer people purchased license plates than on Wednesday. Today's sales were expected to equal yesterday's.

The registrar wishes to remind store employes and plant and office workers who have Saturday afternoons off, the license bureau will be open from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. on that day for their convenience. This policy will continue until April 1, Mr. Bailey

Auditor Reminds Farmers Personal Taxes Are Due

County Auditor Harry V. Mounts today issued a reminder to farm folk that April 1 is the deadline for the payment of personal property taxes. The auditor has been accepting payments of personal taxes since Feb. 15. Automobiles and household goods are exempt from personal property taxation except in such cases where household furniture is used in renting furnished houses and apartments, furniture included.

Personal property tax payments are running higher in number than on this date last year, Mr. Mounts said, but the reminder to farm folk is issued so that they may take advantage of the remaining time before plowing weather begins.

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATION

CHRIST in You, THE HOPE of Glory

OUR LENTEN REPENTANCE

Matthew 3:2. "Repent ye'"

REPENT YE! This clarion call comes from the fearless preacher of repentance in the wilderness, known as the forerunner of Jesus. The same demand is made by Christ at the beginning of His public ministry when He exclaims, 'Repent ye and believe in the gospel'"

Many of us believe that repentance is always in order. This is especially true of the Lenten season when we give it added emphasis in our Christian thinking. No matter how good we may think we are, we all need to repent, to return or come back to God and give up our sins.

Whenever we wrong anybody, we sin against God and the standards of Christ's gospel. When we are guilty of economic oppression, we sin against Christ who "became poor that we might become rich." When war-clouds appear on the political horizon, the prophet cries out, Repent of your lust for gold and raw materials, "for what shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

Repent! Repent!

St. Paul's Lutheran Church

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

FOR a bewildered moment I stared at Jim, wondering what new angle about Katie, my tempestuous, faithful housekeeper, her long-suffering, patient and loving husband was about to bring to my attention.

Was it possible, I thought that she had worn his patience out, as she so nearly had worn mine to the vanishing point in the last temper tantrum to which she had treated me? Was Jim going to tell me that he could no longer stand the strain of life with Katie, and intended to leave her?

I reminded myself sharply that I would get nowhere in wild conjecture. Beside my father's mandate of haste in getting back from the farmhouse, was fresh in my memory, and I must put in part of the already fast-passing twenty minutes, before Katie's dinner tocsin, the interview for which fugitive King Georges had asked, an interview which I infinitely dreaded.

I gave a quick look around the hall. The library door was ajar, and I knew the room was deserted.

"Come into the library, Jim," I said gently. "We can talk better there."

I turned upon the words, and went into the library, Jim following me.

"Sit down, Jim," I said, sitting down in a big armchair, and motioning him to another near me.

But Jim shook his head, the misery in his face deepening.

"I'd rather stand," he said, "while I say what I've got to say."

He gulped, swallowed, and then as he twisted his cap as if he would tear it in tatters, he got the words out.

"Mis' Graham, I think you'd better be looking for some other couple to look after the place."

I don't think I ever have been more astonished in my life.

'But why, Jim?" I said. "Aren't you getting enough money? We raised you and Katie both, only last year."

He made a brushing gesture of impatience.

"That isn't it, at all," he said. We're getting more money now, than anybody else around, and you folks always have been swell to us. We couldn't ask for a better place. We'll never find another one like it. It's like tearing the heart out of my body to leave here."

He looked exactly as if he meant the words, and I knew what it meant to a man of Jim's shy nature to get out such words.

"But then, Jim," I asked, "Why? Why" You know how pleased we always have been with your work and with Katie's?"

He looked at me with bewildered and tortured eyes.

"Katie's?" he asked incredulously. "How can you put up with Katie when she acts the way she did today?"

"She's been bad before," he said, "but I generally could manage her, but today it was something awful and for nothing at all. I couldn't do a thing with her. And you having that important business for your father and all. I just made up my mind that I couldn't stand it any longer."

"She's my wife," he went on sturdily, 'and I love her. She's been an awful good wife, except when she gets these tantrums.

"I can stand them," he said, "but there's no call for you to have to stand them. So I think the best thing for me to do is to get some little place where I can go to work, and she can keep the house. Of course I'll stay until you can get somebody, but you ought to know I intend to take Katie away where she can't bother you so much."

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

NICE baby, full of trouble, right in congress' basket; parity and farm price support.

They may sound like Greek to city people. But they're important to farmers. Here's an explanation.

Parity simply means equal. And price support means only that the government will buy up crops, if necessary, to keep farm prices from falling too low.

James Marlow

The law says there's parity (equality) between farm prices and other prices when—

A farmer can buy, with the money he gets for his crops, the kind and amount of things he could buy in some past time. What past time?

In most cases it's the period of 1909-13, called a base period. Those were good years for farmers. Here's an example of parity:

Say wheat sold for $1 a bushel in 1909-14. And in that period for $50 a farmer could buy a certain kind of suit, or tools, or other things.

Say now wheat sells for $2 a bushel but that suit or those other things sell for $100. That's all right. There's parity, or equality, there.

The price of the suit has doubled. But so has the price of wheat. The farmer is spending for a suit twice as much as in 1914, the same kind of suit, but he's earning twice as much.

When there's real equality like that between farm prices and the price of things farmers buy, the government says parity is 100 per cent.

SAY NOW THAT 100 per cent of parity for a bushel of wheat is $2. What happens if the price of wheat falls below $2, which means below parity?

The government says that if the price falls below a certain point under $2 (or parity) it will step in and buy the farmer's wheat or lend him money on it. How far below?

Right now, in the case of a crop that is covered by the support program, the government steps in if the price goes below 90 per cent of parity. In this case it would be 90 per cent of $2 (parity), or $1.80.

Now, for example, say the actual price of wheat drops to $1.50 a bushel. The government will step in through one of its agencies called the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC). The CCC does one of two things:

1. It will buy the farmer's wheat for the government at $1.80—90 per cent of parity—although on the open market he could get only $1.50.

2. Or the CCC maks him a loan of $1.80 on each bushel and holds the wheat for a certain time. If the farmer doesn't pay off the loan within that certain time, the government keeps the wheat.

BUT DOESN'T THE government sometimes wind up with a lot of farm products on its hands and a lot of money spent? Yes.

The government tries to get back the money spent by selling the crops for what it can get. Last year it wound up losing $42,000,000 although it spent many millions more than that through price support.

Congress passed the laws setting up the price supports. But not all crops get it. For instance, there's no price support for citrus fruits like oranges and grapefruit.

But here are two big kinds of farm products that get price support:

1. Corn, wheat, cotton, tobacco, rice, peanuts. These are so-called basic commodities.

2. Hogs, milk, eggs, chickens, potatoes, sweet potatoes, soybeans, dry beans, and some others.

The government started its price support program in 1933 by supporting those basic commodities in No. 1 at between 52 and 75 per cent of parity.

DURING THE WAR, to encourage farmers, the government raised the price support for the items in No. 1 to 90 per cent of parity.

That wartime boost—90 per cent of parity for those items in No. 1—ends Dec. 31, unless congress votes to continue it.

Unless it does, the price control will go back to the pre-war level of 52 to 75 per cent of parity. So much for the items in No. 1.

The items in No. 2 were given price support only during the war, but also at 90 per cent of parity. That wartime boost for them also ends Dec. 31 unless congress acts to protect them further.

Unless congress does act to continue price support for those items in No. 2, the government won't have to support them at all.

So Secretary of Agriculture Anderson has asked congress to decide by law, what it wants to do about supporting farm prices after Dec. 31, 1948.

This being an election year, congress probably will pay careful attention to what it does about price support.

Almost all the items mentioned in Nos. 1 and 2 are above parity, now.

But the government is buying one kind of tobacco, because it's below 90 per cent of parity. And it's doing the same for some potatoes in Maine and Minnesota where the price has dropped.

A New Cordon Sanitaire

THE similarity between the proposed "consolidation of western Europe" and the maze of treaties created for the security of western Europe after World War II is obvious. But the most striking thing about the new proposal is the territory it seeks to protect against the westward push of Russian influence—France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Great Britain. This is not the frontier. The West is closing its ranks, but the ranks are pitifully thin compared with the years after World War I.

The nations that remain were then deep in the second line of defense. The frontier—the cordon sanitaire which France tried to build to stop Russia—was comprised of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Yugoslavia. The last three are further organized in a separate bloc, the little entente, led by Czechoslovakia. Further treaties were made among and between all the sovereignties seeking security, and this maze of diplomatic paper-work was to become the challenge to a resurgent German empire, which set out to divide and conquer the combined nations—but for Russia's advantage, as things turned out.

The West still hopes to save two potentially powerful territories from Russian domination—the western half of Germany and all of Italy. It hopes, also, to have the support of Norway and Sweden. But it has lost all the nations on the border of the Soviet Union, except Finland—and Finland is being "invited" to enter the Soviet bloc.

Plugging Holes in the Silo

THE world food problem isn't likely to be solved for years to come. This nation's population has increased 14,000,000 in the last decade; despite the war, Europe's is up 21,000,000, and with peace of a sort restored, the population graph is curving ever upward. Yet even at prewar production levels more than half of the world's inhabitants lacked enough to eat.

One way of increasing food production is to reduce loss, which in America alone amounts to an astronomical figure. Charles F. Brannan, assistant secretary of agriculture, says plant diseases reduce crop yields 17 per cent, while insects and rodents destroy 10 per cent in the fields and another 5 per cent of stored food. Rats alone are responsible for a grain loss equal to the amount Europe will draw from us this year.

Intelligent cooperation among scientists, agricultural experts, the government and farmers should reduce these losses an amount equivalent to the production of millions of acres.

State Trading

THE secretary of agriculture's hope that resuming government grain-buying won't jack up prices again after last month's slump caused by suspension of purchases for export is wishful. Senators debating the Marshall plan know that all government purchases for export have an effect on prices. It's one of the toughest problems in the European recovery program.

A still tougher problem is how to make government the biggest purchaser of production for export without putting private traders out of business. The latter point to the consequences of state trading in Europe and in this country under lend-lease and quote economists who say control and conduct of export trade by government is the most important single matter affecting free-enterprise capitalism in the world today—the economic climax of nationalism.

Under the Marshall plan, the government would compete with domestic buyers for hundreds of items, then would export what it bought at the expense of the export-trade industry. The timing and pricing of government purchases would be involved deeply in both domestic and international politics. To point this out is not an indictment of the Marshall plan. But it would be foolish to forget that any plan which calls for state trading on a wholesale scale for at least five years could be carried out without tremendous effect on free-enterprise capitalism in the United States.

The Brass of Some People

REAR ADMIRAL HARRY G. HAMLET (retired), former Coast Guard commandant, would abolish the terms "brass" and "brass hat" as they apply to the military. He has told a house armed services subcommittee that such terms undermine the armed services and discourage young people from choosing military careers.

The admiral didn't say how he would go about abolishing the terms. This doesn't happen to be a country where words can be outlawed just because they are displeasing to a certain group.

"Brass," as it applies to the military, will fall into disuse soon enough when wearers of braid and stars don't make their browned-off subordinates grope for synonyms for "arrogance" and "impudence."

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Study of the Marshall Plan Vandenberg Bill.

CONTRADICTIONS appear in the Vandenberg bill on the Marshall plan which need to be studied with care. In a statement on his bill, Senator Vandenberg gave the impression that the American people would be able to "take a look" at the entire matter at the end of the first year (June 30, 1948). It does not seem, from the bill, that this means very much. In fact, the bill is definitely for four years and the amount is definitely $17,000,000,000. Any other statement is literally untrue. I do not say that Senator Vandenberg is untruthful; I do say that the impression is likely to be distorted.

SOKOLSKY

Section 21 (A) provides that the plan terminate after June 30, 1952, unless otherwise provided by joint resolution. What has that to do with June 30, 1948? Should the Vandenberg bill be passed, it will bind this country to a four-year plan at the cost of $17,000,000,000. That should be repeated every time the phrase "Marshall plan" is mentioned. That should be put at the top of the Vandenberg bill, so that there can be no mistake about it. It will serve neither the United States nor the beneficiaries of the gifts we give them, if there is any mistake.

Section 14 (C) provides "there are hereby authorized to be appropriated to the president, from time to time through June 30, 1952 . . . such sums as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this act: provided, however, that for carrying out the provisions . . . of this act for the period of one year following the date of enactment of this act, there are hereby . . . appropriated not to exceed $5,300,000,000."

Obvious Obligation

What other purpose can the smaller figure have than to give the impression that that is all there is to it? Yet, twice, in section 11 (paragraph 4) and in section 21 (paragraph A), the extension of this program to 1952 is specifically mentioned. There can be no question that a definite moral obligation is being undertaken on the basis of the report of the committee on European cooperation (the Bevin report). This provides a four-year plan, ending in 1952. There is never at any point any question about that. Nowhere does the Bevin report propose a one-year plan. There is no calculation for a contribution on our part of $5,300,000,000. The amount is $17,000,000,000 and to it must be added the full amount of aid to Greece, Turkey and China.

From all this, these facts are clear:

▶No congress can commit a succeeding congress to an appropriation; therefore, an appropriation is being set for one year;

▶However, the Vandenberg bill stipulates a moral obligation to complete a contract in four years, ending 1952, amounting to $17,000,000,000 and no one can force the United States to pay over this amount, it is nevertheless true that the American people are not likely to default on a moral obligation inherent in a bill passed by congress and signed by the president;

▶It is therefore clear that the Vandenberg bill commits this country to $17,000,000,000 and to a four-year program until 1952.

Another point to be noted in the Vandenberg bill is that whereas the general assumption seems to be that the gifts under ERP are to be administered by an agency independent of the state department; yet in the bill, the administrator's functions are limited and his agents abroad are placed under the "chief of the United States diplomatic missions," which means that they are directly subject to the secretary of state. If that is the intention, why not do it that way?

What can be the object of verbal camouflage except to confuse the people, meeting public opinion by such a superfluity of language as was exhibited in Senator Austin's masterpiece of double-talk in his address on the Palestinian question. Such nonsense is to be expected from the current management of the state department, but not from Senator Vandenberg.

This bill gives the impression of being intellectually fraudulent and requires clarification and simplification to clean it up.

Cloakroom-to-Cloakroom Pay?

More than a thousand teachers have been on strike in Minneapolis.

Apparently they are smarter than the school board realized when it hired them.

Incidentally, I'll bet they don't have to worry about students trying to cross their picket line.

The teachers are asking up to six thousand dollar a year . . . plus, presumably, time-and-a-half for keeping kids after school.

The teaching profession has come a long way since the schoolmaster got room and board and eight dollars a month, out of which he had to buy his own chalk.

Teachers struck frequently in those days, too . . . . but always with a ruler.

Modern teachers still take their educational obligations seriously. But they don't mind suspending their Latin, Algebra and Political Science classes to give city fathers a lesson in Modern Labor Relations.

Inflation and Ice Cream, Too

By Raymond Moley

EUROPEANS now resident here marvel at the strange nature of American inflation. In Germany and elsewhere in Europe, past inflations have always been accompanied by reduced purchasing power and a lowered standard of living. Here, we have inflation while we are able to eat better than ever before. The Queen of France was several generations ahead of her time when she said, "Let them eat cake."

MOLEY

The department of agriculture has given us a publication which offers some highlights on high living. The average American is eating less of the plain food his parents made him eat in his childhood. He eats five per cent less bread and potatoes. But he makes up this deficiency richly. He eats twice as much ice cream. He drinks 16 per cent more milk and cream. He eats 29 per cent more cheese.

Per capita, we eat 32 per cent more chicken than before the war, 27 per cent more eggs, 25 per cent more pork and 29 per cent more beef and veal. Lamb and mutton, never very large items, have fallen off 10 per cent.

Measure of Consolation

All this looks like more dreaded calories. The new look must be covering up considerably more square miles of female loveliness. But some comfort for those who dread poundage can be found in the drop in potato consumption and from the fact that we eat 24 per cent more fruit and 15 per cent more assorted vegetables.

Here is another angle. We eat only two-thirds of the butter consumed before the war, but twice as much oleomargarine. To be more specific, we consumed, before the war, 7.3 times as much butter as oleo, and now the figure is 2.3 times as much.

The farmers of America will see this picture with mixed feelings. Those who produce fruit will take comfort. So will truck farmers and meat producers. The dairy farmers will not be so happy. They may well hope that cheaper feed will help them in their contest with the old rival, oleomargarine.

A Long-Time Development

The trend away from bread and potatoes is not a temporary phenomenon. This has been a trend in two generations. Perhaps its root cause is the supplanting of hard manual work by mechanization and brain exercise. All nations in which manual labor has declined have witnessed a tendency to change over from carbohydrate foods to foods with higher protein content.

The present great foreign demand has caused a great expansion in wheat production. But that demand is not likely to continue. It will be reduced by more production abroad. When foreign demands on wheat are lowered, we may look for trouble in our big wheat producing areas, unless the increase in our population keeps up with the production.

Meanwhile, if prices decline without a great reduction in employment and production, we may well see a continuation of our stature as the best-fed nation on earth.

Gas for Britain

A letter published in a New York newspaper the other day contained an appeal from Ken Moffan of Manchester, England, for $40,000,000 to give him and his kind enough gas to keep their cars going for three months this summer.

"I don't know whether the average American motorist has the same fondness for his car as his British counterpart," the letter said, "but would he pause for a few moments and just consider his car, jacked up in his garage, going out to polish it up, fondling the wheel lovingly, and yet not being able to take it out of that garage. To miss the trips to the movies, the baseball game, the jaunt out on a Sunday to see Uncle Joe and Aunt Minnie, taking the wife and kiddies along . . . Knowing how well you organize things in America, I have confidence that you could raise this sum in time for the summer."

Motorist Moffan points out that if 20,000,000 American motorists kicked in two bucks apiece, enough fuel could be sent to Britain to keep British pleasure cars rolling this summer. "We can only look for help to your great American continent," he concludes. "Although we realize we must work out our own salvation, a little encouragement seems to lighten the burden."

He Seems To Have Cornered the Hot Potato Market

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, March 5, 1938. Murray Levine, New York attorney and father of 12-year-old Peter Levine, who had been kidnaped 10 days before, made frantic efforts to contact the boy's abductors and pay the $30,000 demanded for his return.

The Harding High school basketball team defeated the Bexley Lions 39-37 in an overtime game on the Ohio Wesleyan university gym floor at Delaware. The win put them in the semi-finalist class in the District A tournament. A field attempt from near the center of the floor by Guard Roy Everly that swished through the net without brushing the hoop, gave the locals the two-point victory.

It was baby day at the City hospital. Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Verne Lucas of near Marion and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Haas of Congress street and daughters to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Randall of Silver street and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Comer of South Prospect street.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd G. Browne and Dr. and Mrs. B. H. Taylor were in Cincinnati attending the biennial session of Delta Province, Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Miss Margaret P. Nickol and Clifford A. Foremen were married in the United Brethren church parsonage by Rev. Carl V. Roop.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, March 5, 1928. Fred W. Warner of Marion, chairman of the Republican state central committee, received a telegram from the Georgia delegates to the Republican national convention stating that they had adopted a resolution endorsing Sen. Frank B. Willis for the Republican presidential nomination.

Still clinging to his role of "private citizen" and declining to reveal his plans to newspapermen, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and four flying companions took off from Bolling field, Washington, for an unannounced destination.

John W. Blair, 78, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry Rollinson of Lee street.

Miss Marjorie Eymon was elected president of Le Mercure club in a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Douglas Felt on East Church street.

Mrs. Mary A. Johnson celebrated her ninetieth anniversary at her home on East Center street in the evening was hostess to members of her family and the Sunday school class at Calvary Evangelical church of which she was a member. A feature of the birthday lunch was cake baked by Mrs. Johnson.

Timetable of Treachery

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

THE struggle is over, and the terror is already beginning in Prague. Yet there is still one important fact to note about the death of freedom in Czechoslovakia. The ruthless Communist power play which has just been executed with such precision was actually prepared in broad outline in Moscow during the war, nearly five years ago.

The Communists overwhelmed the non-Communist majority of Czechs for a very simple reason—they already controlled every real source of power in the state. They obtained this control almost wholly by the efforts of two non-Communists, the minister of war, General Ludvik Svoboda, and the deputy premier and newly reinstated Socialist leader, Dr. Szdenek Fierlinger. These men acted, in effect, as agents of the Kremlin.

No one knows now, and perhaps no one will ever know, what traps the Kremlin laid or what inducements the Kremlin offered to Fierlinger and Svoboda, a career diplomat and a career soldier with decades of service behind them. But it is very definitely known that Fierlinger and Svoboda were captured, in wartime, when Svoboda commanded the Czech troops with the Red army, and Fierlinger was the Czech government-in-exile ambasssador to Moscow. The evidence further indicates that their future roles were then already allotted to Svoboda and Fierlinger. Yet this was still the period when Generalissimo Stalin was assuring President Benes, President Roosevelt and every other Allied leader of his deep respect for Czechoslovakia's independence and freedom.

Couldn't Stop Infiltration

During the war, loyal Czechs actually carried warnings of what was afoot in Moscow to President Benes in London. Benes made fruitless efforts to halt Svoboda's infiltration of pro-Communist officers into his Czech detachments. Benes also attempted to recall the slippery Fierlinger, ostensibly for consultation. Fierlinger, scenting trouble, arrogantly replied that he was too busy, and in any case his health was too bad for the journey. He added, threateningly, that his Soviet friends wanted him where he was.

Benes was caught in the toils of his own decision to orient Czechoslovakia toward the Soviet Union. He dared not flout the Soviets by repeating his order to Fierlinger, or intervene openly to control Svoboda. And thus the tragedy of Kosice inevitably occurred.

In the moment of the German collapse, at the end of the war, members of the Czech government-in-exile met with the Czech Communists at the little town of Kosice, to establish a new government. The Benes group had expected to make no great concessions to the Communists. But at Kosice, they found an atmosphere of intrigue and intimidation. Fierlinger was the evil genius of the meeting. At one moment he overflowed with the slimy soothing syrup which is one of his specialties; at the next, he hinted threateningly of reprisals by the "Red Army," if a truly "sympathetic" regime were not formed.

Got Results

As a direct outcome of Fierlinger's efforts, the war ministry went to Svoboda; the crucial ministries of interior, education and information went to overt Communists, and of cource Fierlinger himself entered the government in a strong position. The government was hardly formed before Svoboda began to extend his infiltration effort to the Czech army as a whole, handing the vital secret intelligence body over to the Communists. At the interior department, Communist Minister Nosek transformed the police into an organ of the Communist party. And Fierlinger, as leader of the Socialists, labored to paralyze any opposition to this Communist seizure of the sources of Czech state power.

No real opposition arose until the terrible humiliation of last summer, when the Czech government changed its unanimous vote on the Marshall plan by direct order from Stalin. By then, opposition was useless. The Socialists threw out Fierlinger and replaced him with Bohumil Lausman. Besides Lausman, courage was shown by a few other non-Communist leaders (notably not including Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk, the salon favorite in New York, who has played perhaps the most morally shabby game of all.) But the hard fact remained that power was all in Communist hands. They began to use their power when the command was transmitted from the Kremlin a fortnight ago, by the Soviet Under Secretary of State Zorin. Czechoslovakia fell, like a rotten apple.

There is a moral in this story for those who advocate friendly negotiation with the Soviets. Of what use are negotiations with a government which blandly promises one thing and secretly plots the opposite? There is also a warning. The fall of Czechoslovakia has not altered the world power balance. But the brutal methods employed and the suddenness of the coup have disclosed an important alteration in the Kremlin's timetable. It it not impossible that the world crisis will reach the acute and decisive stage in the next few months.

Sees Earth as Gas Bag

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Sky and Telescope, the astronomical magazine, reports a theory that the central part of the earth is made of compressed gas. R. B. Borcherds of South Africa is author of the idea.

It substitutes for the long-held belief that beginning at a depth of about 1,800 miles, the earth's core is made of nickel-iron.

This iron core was invented to explain the earth's magnetism. Recently mathematics have indicated that the mgnetic poles are due simply to the earth's rotation.

That permits other explanations of the earth's core. Borcherds supposes this core to contain the same substances familiar on the surface and in mines. The proportions of these substances may not be the same in the core, but all of them presumably are there.

Kremlin Red Riding Hood

Grandma was in bed taking a rest and b[ing] nobody. Suddenly there came a rude [k] at the door. "Who's there?" asked Grandma silly question, since so few people give the answer nowadays anyhow.

"A friend," said the wolf. That was en[ough] "Oh no you don't!" said Grandma. "I [know] that one."

But before she could bolt the door the [wolf] rushed in.

"I just want to protect you," said the [wolf] devouring her.

* * *

Little footsteps were heard on the thresh[old] The wolf jumped into Grandma's nightie a[nd] climbed into bed, licking his chops.

PHILLIPS

"Hello Grandma," said Little Red Riding Hood.

"Hello my dear," said the wolf softly.

"Why Grandma, you look strange," said Little Red Riding Hood.

"Nonsense," said the wolf. "You're the one who looks strange. I can tell at a glance you are in a bad way and need my help."

"Who me?" gasped the child.

"I've got to do something about you right away," said the wolf. "It's an emergency."

"But Grandma, I never felt better," said Little Red Riding Hood.

"Don't talk like a reactionary. You need looking after. I am resolved to give you attention care and every protection," said the wolf.

"But I'm doing very well," insisted the child.

"You talk like a visionary tool of decadent interests," said the wolf. "Just because you feel happy is no sign you are happy. When you are in such a mood, you are in danger of explosion. Let me fix you up a pact."

"A pact?" questioned Little Red Riding Hood quite baffled.

"Yes. It's a little thing for mutual defense and better understandings," said the wolf. "How about one for fifty years?"

Little Red Riding Hood had come closer and was quite alarmed.

"But Grandma," she insisted. "You do look strange. Are you sure you are all right?"

"Don't worry your little head about me," replied the wolf. "I never felt better in YOUR life."

"Why Grandma," exclaimed the child suddenly. "What big eyes you have!"

"Those are my Yalta and Teheran eyes," said the wolf. "Pretty snappy, eh?"

"What big ears you have!" exclaimed Little Red Riding Hood.

"Potsdam models, with a new Cairo finish," smiled the wolf. "Really not bad, once you get used to them. They're very special ears. You've heard about things going in one ear and out the other? Well I've perfected these so the trip is non-stop. I'm not even conscious of anything that's been through them."

* * *

"Grandma, what a big mouth you have!" said the child.

"Have a care child. You are not in a United Nations debate," barked the wolf.

"What big teeth you have!" exclaimed Little Red Riding Hood, suddenly sensing it was too late for a loan or economic aid.

"Now you're getting down to the business on the agenda," said the wolf, leaping up and starting after Little R.R.H. "You'll taste fine with a rasher of better understandings on toast."

Around and round the room they went, with the wolf snapping and growling. Finally he tore a piece out of her arm and backed her into a corner.

Now two woodchoppers, hearing the scream, burst into the cottage.

"What goes?" they demanded.

"I'm demonstrating true freedom and illustrating genuine democracy," said the wolf.

"That child looks pretty bad," said the woodchoppers.

"Any one saved from oppression looks that way at first," said the wolf, with a laugh.

What happened to the woodchoppers? Oh, they went home to prepare a note of protest.

We still cling to our belief that Gene Tunney is The Walking Man. The last clues, the squeaky shoe, with the pointed "Don't they mean anything to you?", we took to refer to boot training (breaking in boots) at a Marine station. The random notes in a violin (boy, are we out on a limb?) we accept as indicating that degree of physical perfection designated as being "fit as a fiddle."

The Wallace, Taylor and Horse setup should get quite a lot of votes. There are many people who have nothing against a good horse.

The Old Look

By TRUMAN TWILL

Furor about the "new look" has died down. There's a reason. What was proclaimed as new turned out to be the same old stuff on close inspection.

The long part of the "new look" was no longer than it used to be when Grandma was riding side-saddle. The padded part was no better or worse than it used to be when mother was a girl and took pride in her bustles.

The quaint part of it turned out to be the same as it always had been—cute on the cutie, sad on the sad sacks.

Peek-a-boo petticoats, the latest revival of the same old stuff, aren't even causing a stir. Except for a few bewildered men who tactlessly announce that somebody's slip is showing, because that's what they've been coached to announce, no one's paying any attention.

It all adds up to the fact that women will wear anything that's fashionable and men don't care. The only thing that would really stir up excitement would be a new attitude.

But as long as the women remain the same they can get away with anything. As far as that's concerned, they can get away with nothing, which seems to be the general idea in the bathing suit line. It doesn't matter.

They can let their crowning glory grow long or they can cut it short. They can put on rouge or they can be pale and interesting.

They can wear high-button shoes, or they can scuff along in moccasins. They can wear hats that look like inverted stew-pans, or they can stock wild flowers in their hair and call it a $87.50 bargain.

They can go in for Hooveretes or skirts of satin. They can enamel their fingernails, or they can leave them the way nature intended.

They can wear slacks if it makes 'em happy, or they can adopt hoop skirts. They can shorten their skirts to the knee, or they can lengthen them to the ankle.

They've done all that and more. They've exhausted all the possibilities there are. They've run the gamut from Grecian robes to bathing skirts. And it didn't make a bit of difference.

There was a flurry of excitement, an interval of controversy, then everybody settled down to make the best of it.

It has happened again. The "new look" is now the old one. The world is yawning and asking, "So what?" The more things change, the more they are the same. It's time for a new style.

MISSIONARY FAMILY. Missionaries to Africa, Rev. and Mrs. Ermal Wilson, and their children, Evangeline and David, shown above, will be in the Marion area for three services Sunday. At Second Pilgrim Holiness church in Marion, Rev. Wilson will speak morning and evening, and at the Bucyrus Pilgrim mission in the afternoon. The Wilsons spent eight years in Africa when Rev. Wilson was field superintendent for the denomination. They will be heard here in line with a deputational plan of the general church organization, missionaries are sent to the various congregations to present the mission work of the church.

named on a committee to study plans were Walter Heberman, Rupert Brown and James Bull. Announcements were made of the baseball banquet to be held April 26 at Hotel Harding, and that arrangements for the 1948 annual football banquet will be in charge of the Kiwanis club.

A constitutional amendment was voted to the effect that officers elected this spring would not, as heretofore, take office at once, but would begin their duties in September following the summer recess.

Richard McCormick was a guest.

PLANS REVIVED FOR LA RUE WATER WORKS

Businessmen To Confer with Village Council.

Special to The Star

LARUE—Plans for the construction of a municipally owned water plant for the village of La-Rue were reviewed at a meeting of the Business Men's Association last night after hearing a discussion on the project by M. W. Loveless, representative of Alden E. Stilson Associates, consulting engineers of Columbus.

A committee from the Business Men was appointed to meet with the village council to study the facts and canvass the village to determine how many home owners and business places would sign to use the water. The committee comprises Keith B. Ridgway, chairman, L. G. Fields, D. B. Jones, Roy Thew, and Lowell Swartz. The group will meet with Mayor Harold F. Davis and village council Monday night to study the plans and recommendations of the engineering firm for the financing of the proposed project.

The survey made by the Columbus firm over a year ago called for an elevated storage tank to be erected with the water supply to come from deep drilled wells. The survey was financed by an advance from the federal works administration of $4,500. At the time plans called for an outlay of about $125,000. It would include besides the tank and wells, a softening, purification and distribution plant.

Loveless told the group last night that it would be necessary to secure upward of 200 subscribers to make the plan feasable. He said the cost to home owners would carry a minimum charge of about $3.50 per month with business places on a receding scale. He said also that a tank with 40 pounds pressure would need to be over 100 feet high, but that it would reduce insurance rates by about 50 per cent.

The canvass of village home owners will determine the number of subscribers who would be willing to vote for assessment bonds necessary to finance the project. In addition to assessment bonds it would be necessary for the village to vote a bond issue as well.

When the village council suspended the project a year ago it was thought that the cost of the elevated tank at that time was prohibitive. At that time a lease was secured on land owned by Otis Boyd on the northwest corner of LaRue for the location of the wells.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — PETE McCARTHY, an Irish version of the Good Samaritan, has spent 39 happy years proving it's more fun to give than to receive.

"I want to be the friend of the least, the last and the lost," He humbly decided long ago.

He picked as his field of labor a saloon-ridden street in Joliet, Ill., known as "Whisky Row." And it then was a much rougher stretch than the thief-haunted road between Jerusalem and Jericho traveled by the Good Samaritan of old.

Hal Boyle

McCarthy established his famous Morning Star mission there in 1908. He did it with a Bible in one hand and a sandwich in the other—believing that "grace does not fill a man's stomach and creed does not cover his back."

Since then he has fed more than 265,000 men, women and children, provided beds for 95,000, converted 13,000 at the mission's small altar and made 12,000 visits to police courts and jails.

In his youth Pete had been a boxer and street fighter, bartender and barber. In 1901 he helped carry in furniture for a young minister who was moving in next door to him. He became interested in religion and finally decided to establish a mission on Whisky Row, where 27 nationalities lived and 63 per cent of Joliet's crime was committed.

HE RENTED a two-story building and sold his own house and two other pieces of property. The first night in his mission, he put a kerosene lamp on the floor, knelt and prayed.

"I promised God that I would never take up a collection in the mission," he said, "and I promised that I would feed the hungry, clothe the naked and visit those who were sick or in prison."

He has kept that pledge. No one has been turned away except "when he was full or the mission was."

His efforts were ridiculed at first. Bricks were hurled through his windows. But when he finally exhausted his own funds the city's businessmen began coming to his rescue. Money was raised to buy the mission building for him. Now it receives two per cent of Joliet's annual Community Chest funds.

McCarthy has gone the Good Samaritan one better—by going to look for people in distress. His daytime office is a downtown street corner where he cheerily greets friends and arranges to help those in need. Although he will be 81 years old this St. Patrick's day, he also still makes a daily round of the police station, courts, jail and railroad and bus stations.

McCARTHY ASKS no questions of those who come to him for aid or advice. He has helped derelicts, lovers, the destitute, worried businessmen, runaway youngsters.

Pete presses religion on no man. But he believes that none of the world's large or small controversies can be settled except by having "the spirit of the Master in our hearts.

"God gave us two commandments: 'Love God, and love thy neighbor.' And our neighbor is the one who is in need.

"Kindness is the language that ever the deaf can hear and the dumb can understand."

Pete has been poor but cheerful and happy for four decades. His personal creed:

"The breast is the temple: the earth is the altar; the heart the sacrifice—and you the priest. And you will have to settle your plan for salvation between here and the cemetery.

"No one can be saved for you, no one can die for you and no one can be put in the grave for you."

Girl Scouts To Mark Anniversary March 12-18

Plans for the observance of Girl Scout Birthday Week March 12 through 18, were made at a meeting of the Girl Scout Leaders club Wednesday night at the Ohio Public Service terminal building.

A feature of the observance this year will be the annual cookie sale which was discontinued through the war years. Mrs. F. L. Thomas, a member of the council, is in charge of plans for the citywide project. The Scouts will take orders for the cookies during the birthday week and deliveries will be made later. No money is to be accepted until the cookies are delivered, the sponsors announce.

A meeting of representatives from the various troops will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday at the Girl Scout office and at this time plans for the cookie sale will be completed and other activities outlined. Other plans include a citywide Scout rally from 2 to 4 p. m. the afternoon of March 13 at the Legion Dugout.

The birthday week activities will include a poster contest for the troops and individuals. March 10 is the deadline for entries to be in for judging. Awards will be made and the posters placed in windows in the downtown district. Plans were made for a campers college to be directed by Mrs. Cecil Gabler. The first meeting will be held at 8 p. m. March 17. The course will be open to leaders, assistant leaders, troop committee leaders and others interested in Girl Scout training.

MBUS, O., March 5—Of- 3 Ohio counties expect threatened shake-up of tax structure.

Lorain county officers, who said pottery owners already have challenged tax classifications of $14,000,000 worth of property, called the meeting. Thomas McGeachie, Lorain county commission chairman, presided.

Saul D. Danaceau, assistant Cuyahoga county prosecutor, told the group the supreme court apparently had reversed its position between 1941 and 1946. The court ruled that special use structures were improperly classified as real estate.

The structures, including 2,000,000 gallon storage tanks and 10-high bubble towers of petroleum plants, were reclassified as personal property. Kilns of pottery manufacturers also have been moved into the personal property classification.

Danaceau said he had great respect for the state high court, but added:

"What they have done in these cases is simply ridiculous." He explained that he did not believe building and manufacturing equipment became personal property, simply because it could be dismantled and moved.

John F. Curry, Cuyahoga county commissioner, was named to head the committee.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 5—Stock market leaders today continued their apathetic shift over a slightly irregular course.

Dealings were sluggish from the start. A little bidding appeared here and there on the idea the list was technically in shape for a recovery move if the news warrants. Small fractional variations ruled near midday.

Mild resistance was shown by U. S. Steel, Kennecott, Texas Co, Gulf Oil, Northern Pacific, Sears Roebuck, Du Pont, Paramount Pictures, North American and J. C. Penney.

Occasional losers included Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Goodyear, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda, American Smelting, Allied Chemical, Radio Corp., Johns-Manville, United Air lines, Sinclair Oil and Pennsylvania Railroad.

Food Conservation, Nutrition Stressed in Red Cross Program

The [illegible] of a series of articles [illegible] in Red Cross [illegible] with the 1948 national [illegible] appears [illegible] has been set for [illegible] to be 32 [illegible] the quota is to be used in Marion [illegible] and that 11,170 [illegible] part [illegible] Food and Nutrition [illegible] be furnished by Marion [illegible] chapter.

* * *

Food conservation and nutrition make up one of the many volunteer services of the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross. Classes in nutrition are conducted throughout the year by the nutrition committee headed by Miss Ruth Kleinmaier. Assisting her as a committee are Mrs. F. J. Hurst, Mrs. Marion Clark, Mrs. Anne Sutherland, Miss Philomena Gregg, Miss Mary Faye McMillan, Miss Dorothy Buck and Miss Inez Kraner.

Food conservation is not new to the American housewife. Definite programs were conducted by the Red Cross in both world wars and in the periodic overseas famine emergencies between and since the wars.

Stress Wise Buying

Instruction in food saving through wise buying, preparation and serving, always has been an integral part of the Red Cross program for better health through better nutrition. In the Marion County chapter, nutrition classes, headed by Miss Kleinmaier, have cooperated with President Truman's Citizens Food campaign, by placing posters pertaining to better nutrition in grocery stores. They have also distributed pamphlets entitled "Food Is Your Business," which aid housewives to pick foods for more healthful living.

The nutrition service of the local chapter of Red Cross also completed during the last year, a course for foreign brides in the the art of American cooking and continued with programs along other educational lines. The course provided one program on food suggestions for parties. Another program included a demonstration on "make up," and a third was a talk and film on the prevention of cancer.

Slogan Emphasized

In Marion, as in other chapters, the injunction of the Citizen's Food Committee — "Buy wisely, eat sensibly, waste nothing" is being emphasized specifically in Red Cross nutrition classes and counselling service.

With classes named to "Make Your Dollars Have More Sense," Red Cross chapters in all sections of the country are assisting student veterans and their wives, housing unit families, teachers, parent groups, brides and young mothers, industrial workers, high school students, girl Scouts and Scout leaders, boys' clubs and civic groups.

Other community nutrition needs are being met by chapter nutrition committees in promotion of school lunch programs, in cooperation with school and health authorities, dietary surveys in schools and the like.

Truman Asks End of WAA

Recommends That Congress Transfer War Property to Works Agency.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 5 — President Truman asked congress today to wind up the War Assets Administration June 30.

The disposal of remaining domestic surplus war property would be transferred to the federal works agency.

Of the original $40,000,000,000 worth of surplus property, about $5,000,000,000 will remain to be disposed of at home by June 30.

The $600,000,000 worth left to be sold abroad by that date would be transferred from the state department to the owning agencies for handling. These agencies primarily are the Army and Navy departments.

Mr. Truman also recommended that government procurement and disposal functions be consolidated by transferring the bureau of federal supply to the works agency.

In a special message to congress, Mr. Truman said:

"The enactment of such legislation will abolish our largest remaining war surplus disposal program.

"It will establish an improved system for managing the government's property and mark a major advance toward the development of a central service agency for the federal government. These steps will make an important contribution to the efficient and economical conduct of the government."

TO BE DEPORTED. Irving Potash 45, CIO Furriers' Affiliated union official, is on Ellis Island awaiting deportation to his native Russia after being taken into custody by the FBI and charged with being a member of an organization advocating overthrow of the government by force and violence. Potash is the 26th person snared in the current crackdown on alleged Communists.

$25,000 CIVIL RIGHTS SUIT TRIAL IN 2ND DAY

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., March 5 — The second day of a $25,000 civil rights damage suit filed by [illegible] Eaton, O., Negro who held he was unjustly removed from his Greyhound bus seat began today in U. S. district court.

Fred Hamlet of Eaton claimed in his suit that he was taken from a bus operated by Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, Inc., at West Alexandria, April 26, 1946, "because he was a member of the Negro race."

He asked $500 for alleged violation of Ohio's civil rights law and $24,500 for damages.

Pennsylvania Greyhound in answer said Hamlet was removed because he refused to comply with a reasonable request and became noisy and abusive. He was requested to move from a front to a rear seat, the firm said, because front seats were reserved for passengers going only short distance.

TAFT, VANDENBERG AGAINST "NEW UN"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 5 — Senator Taft of Ohio today lined up with Senator Vandenberg of Michigan against trying to set up a new world agency to block Communism.

The opposition of the two Republican leaders spelled death for the plan advanced by four of their GOP colleagues: Senators Ball (Minn.), Wherry (Neb.), Hawkes (N.J.) and Cain (Wash.).

Taft is chairman of the senate Republican policy committee. Vandenberg heads the foreign relations committee and is the senate's presiding officer.

The super agency idea was offered as an amendment to the $5,300,000,000 European recovery program.

It would direct the President to try to create an 11-nation "supreme council" outside the United Nations. There would be no veto against the use of armed force to stop "aggression or subversion."

Taft told a reporter he is not willing to surrender the veto power which the United States now has in the United Nations security council unless the UN charter is rewritten.

Five Runs Reported By Fire Department

Firemen responded to three investigations and two minor fires yesterday between 4:58 and 11:51 p. m., among them a call to the Chester Piatt home at 431 Madison avenue where a chicken brooder house caught fire when an oil stove exploded, causing an estimated $50 damage. Companies from Central and West Center stations answered the call.

At 8:22 p. m. Engine No. 1 went to the home of Mrs. William Cordray at 611 South Prospect street to investigate a burned out chimney. At 4:58 p. m. the chief's car answered a call to 118 South State street, at the Moose hall, to investigate a fire that caused an estimated $20 damage to a leather chair in the building. The fire is thought to have originated from a lighted match or a cigaret dropped in the upholstery. The chief's car answered a call to 120 South Main street at Wiant's book store when the basement filled with smoke. The smoke filtered into the basement from a pile of burning rubbish and a burlap bag which was smoldering in an adjoining alley. A fire on the roof of a dwelling occupied by Mrs. Grace Smith at 304 and 306 North State street, was extinguished by Mark Street firemen at 9:13 p. m. when they answered a call made by Mrs. Smith who reported she smelled smoke in the attic. A $10 damage loss was estimated.

Two Hurt in Traffic Accident Near Forest

A car driven by Harold Wells, 24, of Forest, ran out of control on a sharp curve three miles south of Prospect on route 37, highway patrolmen reported today.

Riding with Wells was Johnny White, 59, of Forest, who suffered severe lacerations of the neck and head. He was taken to San Antonio hospital in Kenton by Shields ambulance of Forest where he remains for treatment.

Two motorists were arrested by highway patrolmen last night. Leon Dygert, 44, of Springfield N. Y., was arrested on route 42 south of Mt. Gilead for insufficient lights. He was fined $5 and costs by Mayor Roy Bennington of Mt. Gilead.

Donald Ensminger, 30, of Columbus, was arrested by patrolmen at 9 p. m. last night on route 23 north of Marion and charged with driving at an excessive speed in a truck. He was cited to appear before Judge Hazen Saturday at 10 a. m. and after posting bond for his appearance was released.

SOCIALITE WINS SUIT DESPITE SPICY DIARY

By International News Service

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 5 — Heiress Gioia Grimditch was granted a divorce today and won her fight to keep her two children.

The late Jay Gould's crippled great granddaughter, whose spicy diary figured prominently in the case, was divorced from Philadelphia socialite William Henry Grimditch.

Grimditch received "reasonable visitation rights" to see William Henry III, 3, and Gloria Gioia 1½.

The 25-year-old Grimditch charged his wife was not the proper person to be entrusted with children. He had accused her of intimacies with a Phoenix banker's son and other members of Arizona's young social set.

The judge's decision came in a brief announcement through the mails from Tucson, Ariz. Superior Judge J. Mercer Johnson made no comment about the week-old case to the court clerks or attorneys.

The 23-year-old heiress instituted the divorce action early in January. She accused her ice skater husband of desertion and mental cruelty and asked for $500 a month for the support of the children.

Grimditch countered with a cross complaint in which he accused his wife of infidelity with Blake Brophy, a banker's son, and "diverse persons."

His charges were based on her purple-covered diary which he found among her effects while she was in the hospital after being seriously injured in an automobile accident. She accused him of stealing it from her.

The heiress denied from the witness stand that the diary contained any chronicle of infidelities. She asserted that it was filled merely with "silly schoolgirl expressions."

The New Era in medicine

So far as medicine is concerned, we are living in a new era marked by the introduction of what are known as antibiotics. These substances are potent germ killers. They attack directly many of the most dangerous of disease-causing organisms, smashing them outright, a speed which seems marvelous to those of us who knew the power of these germ-armies when unopposed.

Though research will undoubtedly give us new, and perhaps more effective, antibiotics in the future, the most important of those in use today are probably penicillin and streptomycin. Both these two have been sufficiently investigated for the treatment of many different types of infections, both acute and serious.

So far, penicillin is the greater champion. The list of germs which it smashes is long and includes some of the worst enemies of mankind. Thus at present it is the treatment of choice in infections due to staphylococci, pneumococci, and hemolytic streptococci germs. It is also employed for gonorrhea, syphilis, and an infection of the heart valves known as bacterial endocarditis, which is caused by the streptococcal germ.

While in the use of sulfonamide drugs, streptomycin is particularly valuable because it seems to antidote efficiently also of germs from those against which penicillin is ineffective. As of today, it is the only one of the antibiotics which has any effect on the germ causing tuberculosis and thus gives us our first direct weapon against this great disease. Unfortunately, however, it seems to be effective in only about 25 per cent of the cases.

Other infections, satisfactorily treated with streptomycin, are the bacillary infections of the kidneys and bladder, meningitis due to the bacillus influenza, and certain infections of the blood stream.

Penicillin may be given either in the form of a solution or in the form of tablets. Mixed with oil and beeswax, it may be injected into a muscle. This slows down the absorption and gives a more prolonged effect.

There is no general rule regarding the dosage of penicillin to be used. The amount to be employed depends upon the kind of germs causing the trouble. When given by mouth, it seems that about three to five times as much of the penicillin must be used as when given by injection.

Streptomycin, in general, is given by injection into a muscle. Here again, the amount to be used depends upon the kind of infection being treated.

In those cases of tuberculosis which streptomycin helps, improvement is marked. The fever disappears, the cough becomes less, and the appetite improves. As I said before, it now seems to aid only about one-fourth of all tuberculosis patients but, as time and research go forward, it is to be hoped that its usefulness can be increased.

Streptomycin has even brought about cures of tuberculosis meningitis. This is inflammation of the covering membrane of the brain and spinal cord and has formerly been considered incurable.

Reactions to the streptomycin may occur if the preparation is used for longer than seven to ten days, but as a rule they are not serious. Dizziness is common with prolonged use of the drug. Deafness is a serious difficulty at any treatment, but it may only develop in those patients who receive large quantities of the preparation for a long time.

Questions and Answers

L. Reader: Is osteomyelitis curable?

Answer: Osteomyelitis or the destruction of the bones, can be cured with penicillin. Many cases are cleared up rapidly.

The exact treatment, of course, depends upon the type of germ causing the trouble.

COLUMBUS, O., March 5—The board of review of the bureau of unemployment compensation ruled yesterday that loss of a job because of incompetency was not necessarily a bar to collection of unemployment compensation. Prof. Diercks To Direct O.S.U. Choir in Benefit Concert Here

LOUIS H. DIERCKS

* * *

Director of the Ohio State university symphonic choir of 53 voices which will be heard in Marion in a concert March 13 is Professor Louis H. Diercks, head of vocal work in the School of Music at Ohio State and a member of the university music faculty since 1933.

The concert by the choir is to be given at the Edison Junior High school auditorium. The choir is being brought here under the sponsorship of the Harding High school a cappella choir, L. G. Jones, director. Tickets priced at 50 cents are now available from all members of the choir.

Prof. Diercks, in addition to directing this nationally known symphonic choir which won the Columbia Broadcasting System choral quest in 1938, also directs the university chorus of 300 voices and the 18-voice University Singers. He holds three degrees, the bachelor of arts from Bradley, the bachelor of music from the McPhail School in Minneapolis, and the master of arts from the State University of Iowa.

Early in the war Professor Diercks was one of 12 men and women invited by the U. S. government to attend a conference in New York, for the planning of a nationwide war-time community singing program.

Professor Diercks is invited to sing "The Messiah" several times each season. Among his engagements the last couple years have been those at Ohio university, Athens; at Piqua, Fostoria, Worthington, and elsewhere. Each year he also directs the Ohio State university chorus in a rendition of this cantata.

He is the composer of a cantata, "The Prodigal Son," and several published choral works.

Professor Diercks is chairman of the Ohio Chapter of the Hymn Society of America and an executive board member of the National Hymn Society; a member of the advisory board of the National Association of Choir Directors, and serves as chairman of the Institute on Church Music and Worship, held annually at Ohio State university in July. He is minister of music at the King Avenue Methodist church in Columbus.

...N SAID it was his ...at he would make one ...ween then and election ...reign policy and he ...eternally grateful" if I ...e prepared for him a ... speech.

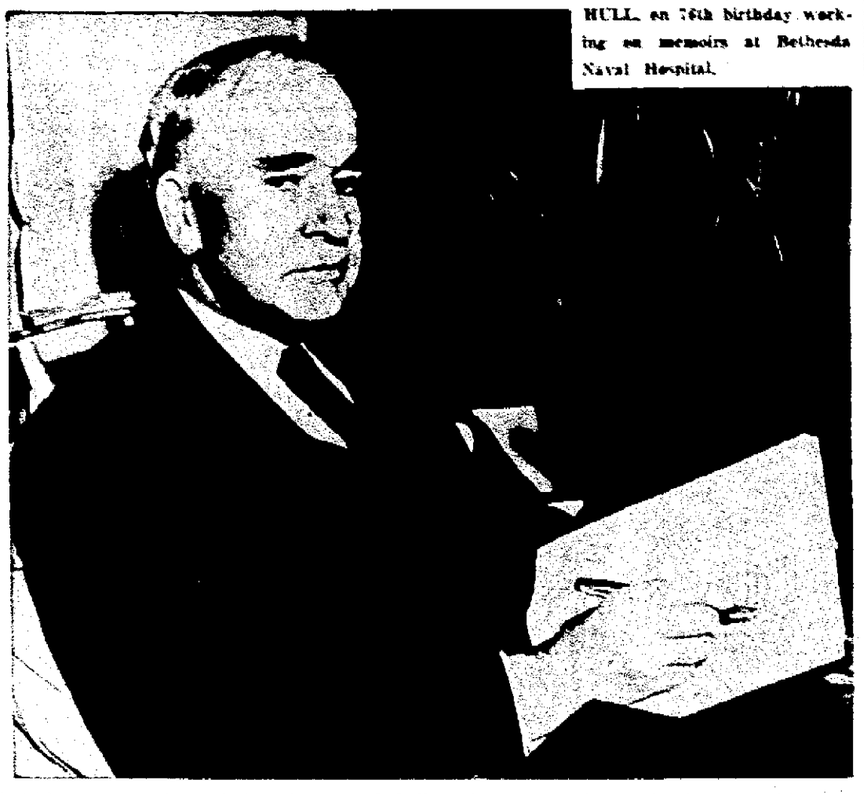
When I received this memorandum I had already planned to call on the President at the White House the following Sunday and inform him of my forthcoming resignation. I made the call as planned and told the President, with a feeling of the keenest disappointment, that I had been over-exerting myself for some time and that I now found myself in such physical condition that I would have to resign. I said I was leaving my office within another day or two to go straight to bed, where I must remain for an indefinite period.

The President did not seem to want to believe me. We had a rather casual conversation before I left his office. The question of preparing a speech for him and of making two campaign speeches was not mentioned by us then or thereafter, although the department later assisted the President in preparing his major foreign policy address of the campaign.

THREE DAYS LATER, on Oct. 2, my seventy-third birthday, I left the state department a very ill man. I spent 18 days at my apartment trying vainly to recover, during which time I carried on my work to some degree, and was then taken to the Naval Medical Center at Bethesda, Md., where I remained for about seven months, at times in a very grave condition. The terrific strain of nearly 12 years in the state department — half again longer than anyone else in our history—during one of the most crucial periods in the life of our nation, had utterly exhausted me.

Soon after I arrived at the hospital, the President sent the White House physician, Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntyre, to reassure me about my condition and to convince me that I would recover sufficiently to resume my duties within a reasonable time. Then the President visited me and spent an hour and a half during which he urged upon me the wisdom of not resigning. He assured me I could take some leave and after a reasonable period return to my office at the state department.

I did not hesitate but promptly declined to withhold my resignation. I said it was next to taking my life to be compelled to resign, with the tremendous plans to which I had been giving my chief attention not yet adopted. But, I added, I had almost utterly exhausted my strength in undertaking to carry forward these gigantic efforts, and I had swung down to the lowest rung on the physical ladder. I said I could not possibly retain my office with its terrific responsibilities and at the same time make a recovery.



HULL, on 74th birthday working on memoirs at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

THE PRESIDENT THEN urged very insistently that I not resign until the end of his present term, Jan. 20, 1945. I replied that personally I would be extremely glad to take this course, but I pointed out that if I did so critics would begin almost in no time to emphasize the tremendous responsibilities resting on me and the state department and, while expressing sympathy for me in my illness, they would soon begin to insist that the critical nature of conditions required a secretary of state on close watch at the department, with the result that they would soon be criticizing the President.

Mr. Roosevelt then asked that I not resign at least until after the election. To this I agreed.

The President on Nov. 21 wrote me a splendid letter, which he began by saying that my letter "has hit me between wind and water." "It has been very sad," he went on, "for me even to contemplate the ending of our close relationship during all these 12 years. It is not merely that our personal relations have been so uniformly and invariably agreeable, or that our joint work has borne true success in so many fields, as it is the personal feeling of not being able to lean on you for aid and intimate interchange of thought.

"This is especially true because we have come so far along the road of friendly relations among nations that I have counted so much on your help in carrying this work through the final stage of complex and difficult conditions which still face us.

"Your health is honestly my first thought, and I am really confident that you will be on your feet again in a relative short time, even though you are limited to special tasks and avoid the daily routine of department work. As of today, therefore, you must devote all your thought to getting back on your feet and on this all your friends will join in helping."

HE THEN REPEATED his suggestion that I continue in office until the beginning of the fourth term, saying:

"I will, of course, accept your resignation as secretary of state if you want me to do so. But I wish you would, as an alternative allow me to accept it as of January twentieth, which is the end of our third term. Perhaps sentiment enters into this suggestion a little bit, but it would give me great satisfaction if we should round out the three terms. That means two months more, and during that time I could see you from time to time and get your advice on some of the things that will come before us."

The President then made a suggestion which would have been dear, indeed to my heart had I been able to accept it. "Incidentally," he said, "when the organization of the United Nations is set up, I shall continue to pray that you as the Father of the United Nations may preside over its first session. That has nothing to do with whether you are secretary of state or not at the time, but should go to you as the one person in all the world who has done the most to make this great plan for peace an effective fact. In so many different ways you have contributed to friendly relations among nations that even though you may not remain in a position of executive administration, you will continue to help the world with your moral guidance."

He concluded with his affectionate regards.

THE PRESIDENT'S APPEAL was so heartfelt and affected me so greatly that I had an earnest talk with the doctors who were treating me. Their answer was that I could not possibly return to my office for a long time to come. I did not think it fair either to the government or to myself, therefore, to accept the President's suggestion that I remain in office until Jan. 20. I felt it was only just that a new secretary of state should be named to take over. And I felt that, as titular head of the state department, I would be held responsible for foreign policies in the formulation of which I had no active part.

I therefore replied to the President on Nov. 23, telling him I was deeply moved by his letter and eternally grateful for his kind solicitude about my health and his generous references to our close personal and official relationship of 12 years. After repeating that it was a personal tragedy to me that my state of health made it impossible to continue in the public service, and after stating that I would always cherish the ties between us of friendship and affection, I said:

"With all my heart I wish that I could meet your desire that my resignation as secretary of state become effective on Jan. 20 rather than now. I have consulted again with my physicians. The speed of my recovery is definitely connected with the extent to which I can be free from all worry and responsibility. You can well understand that, at a time like this, it is impossible for me to lay aside the heavy responsibilities of the secretaryship of state so long as I remain in that office. In fairness to the cause for which you and I have worked so long together, to the country, to you, and to myself, I feel that my resignation must become effective now."

I repeated that, as soon as I recovered my health, I would be entirely at his service with whatever contribution I could make individually to the solution of the tremendous and crucial problems that lay ahead.

THE PRESIDENT now accepted my resignation, and announced it on Nov. 27. He named the under secretary of state, Edward R. Stettinius Jr., to succeed me. My tenure ended officially on Nov. 30, 1944.

The President came to see me at the hospital several times. On one occasion, looking tired and worn—he was then only a few weeks from death, he said to me as I lay in bed, "I ought to be there where you are."

During the seven long months I spent in the hospital I was frequently heartened by signs that, though out of office, my work was not forgotten.

From the Yalta conference I received a cable signed by Roosevelt, Stalin, Churchill, Molotov, Eden, and Stettinius, saying: "We have missed you at this conference and send to your our affectionate greetings. We wish for you a speedy recovery in order that all of us may have the benefit of association with you again."

I should state at this point that I was not consulted by the President or anyone else on policy issues prior to or during the Yalta conference. The President visited me at the hospital just before departing for Yalta, but he did not take up with me any of the topics he expected to discuss with Stalin and Churchill or the decisions he might make. Nor was I informed beforehand of the purposes of this government at any other important conference subsequently, with the exception of that at San Francisco.

TWO MONTHS AFTER the Yalta conference I was stunned on April 12 by President Roosevelt's sudden death. He had come to see me the day before leaving for Hyde Park and then for Warm Springs, Ga., where he died a few days later. On the occasion of his visit I admonished him about his health, saying he should take more rest. He said he was leaving the following day for this purpose.

President Roosevelt, in my opinion, was the greatest social reformer in our modern history, even though many persons might disagree with certain of his reforms. As commander-in-chief, his achievements were outstanding among those of other commanders-in-chief. In my opinion he had no contemporary rival in political skill. As long as I knew him he was always an earnest follower of individual liberty, freedom, and other basic rights and privileges necessary for the welfare of the private citizen. These included the ideals of justice, law, and order. He was a strong and consistent, and oftentimes an extreme, liberal in his views. The steps he took in the military field which led straight toward victory meant everything to us in the diplomatic field by giving to the force of our diplomacy the indispensable backing of military success.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL TO OPEN AT KENTON

Special to The Star

KENTON — The community's dream for a Junior High school will become a reality here next fall. The general contract was let Tuesday to Norton & Nadalin of Columbus, who told members of the Kenton board of education that they will have the building ready by Sept. 1.

Students of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades will be accommodated under the new program, which will afford partial departmentalization of the sixth grade, and complete departmentalization of seventh and eighth grade instruction, Dr. Walter L. Collins, Kenton school superintendent said.

The Columbus Building, formerly the Kenton High school building, and now a grade school, will house the Junior High. No major structural change will be made in the building, but there will be considerable revamping of the interior. The auditorium on the first floor will be transformed into a gymnasium. Classrooms on the first floor will remain as they are, except that a complete new toilet room and lavatory for boys will be on this floor, as well as a rest room for teachers. Basement remodeling will provide showers, locker rooms and lavatories for boys, an industrial arts project room; showers and lockers for girls, a complete cafeteria, home economics room and kitchen. Classrooms on the second floor will remain much as they are at present.

Remodeling plans call for new eaves and down-spouting, painting and other work on the outside of the building; several new windows, and a large new entrance at the rear. Glass block will be used in windows and entrance-ways.

BUSINESS WOMEN'S CLUB HEARS ATTORNEY FETTER

The Business and Professional Women's club, at a dinner meeting sponsored by the legislative committee Wednesday night, heard Thomas Fetter, Marion attorney, speak on "The Crossroads of the World—Whither Shall We Go?" The meeting was held at Hotel Harding. Special music was a part of the program.

Mr. Fetter declared that there are "no shortcuts to justice," or to any plan for the future of the world which will make it safe and a "good place in which to live." Miss Lois Kratter sang two numbers accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Helen Bushman of New Bloomington, a guest, and Miss Evelyn McCormick played piano selections. Other guests were Misses Ruth Young and Geraldine Rowland, "future business women," high school commercial course students, and Misses Merna Beck and Lucille Bunnell. Table decorations carried out a St. Patrick theme, with green tapers and green and white carnation arrangements, and Irish favors were found at each place. Miss Clara Alice Wilson, chairman of the legislative committee, was in charge.

BY Saturday afternoon, only one Marion county team will remain in the central district tournament play .... Marion St. Mary and Pleasant, the county's last remaining entries in either the B or A tourneys, are scheduled to battle it out on the Otterbein alumni gym in Westerville at 1 p. m. Saturday afternoon and on the shoulders of the winner rests Marion's basketball reputation in further tournament games.

THE TWO TEAMS met before, and the Irish emerged the winner, 39-28 .... That was on the Edison Junior High school hardwoods before a jam-packed house Feb. 3 .... The defensive play of both teams was outstanding in that last meeting, and the scoring aces of both were held to a handful of points — Dick Schuler of the Irish getting 10 and Charles Mayers of Pleasant six .... Whether the roomy court at Westerville will have any effect on the type of game coming up Saturday will have to wait until game time to see, but the chances are that it will influence the play somewhat—loosen it up to allow more scoring.

WHAT HAPPENED to Caledonia in the third quarter of their game with Brown last night? .... After enjoying a comfortable 41-31 lead early in that period, Caledonia came apart and the Brown forces started to roll ... Seven or eight minutes later, Brown had scored 18 points and Caledonia hadn't been able to hit the meshes for a single tally .... Caledonia's scoring ace, Kenny Comstock, had four personal fouls called on him and, as the Donians built up their ten-point lead, Coach Thurman Wright pulled him out of the game for safety .... He didn't go back in until Brown had caught up and by then Caledonia was so rattled that they couldn't get on an even keel until Brown had forged ahead five or six points .. Then it was too late to rally .... "There's always next year," says Coach Wright.

ONE OF THE busiest guys in basketballdom, if advance squad rosters can be believed, is Sherry Rowland of Delaware .... He's Ohio Wesleyan's starting forward, but a couple of independent basketball squads also claim his services. .... The Bird-McGinnis cagers expect to run into him Saturday afternoon when they play the Delaware American Legion in the Legion tournament at Newark, and then the Commercial Steel boys are looking for him to appear in the Delaware Roxy Grill lineup when they play in the Prospect Invitational basketball tournament at 8:30 p. m. tonight .... He'll have to hurry to squeeze in the Prospect game tonight, though .... The Battling Bishops are slated to meet the undefeated freshmen "Baby Bishops" in OWU's Edison gym at 7 tonight.

COLUMBUS CENTRAL ELIMINATES HARDING, 60-46

Prexies Put Up Stiff Fight Against Tourney Favorites

By BILL MURPHY

Marion Harding's Prexies played their steadiest brand of basketball of the year last night. With that brand of ball they probably could have defeated or come near defeating any team in the tournament except Columbus Central or Newark, but unfortunately they drew the towering Pirates for the first round of play and were eliminated by a score of 60-46.

Last year the Prexies played Central in the district tournament and were humiliated 72-29. This year they were not humiliated, nor even badly beaten. Only Central's height advantage (four of them go well over the six foot mark) prevented the Presidents from carrying off the victory as they were spurred on by a Coliseum full of screaming fans.

Pirates Take Lead

The Pirates jumped to an eight point advantage in the first minutes of the game on fielders by Bill Bales and Dave Caldwell, 6-foot-4 center, and showed signs of rolling up a score that would go into three figures, but Dick Thomas broke the tension and the zero for Harding on a gift toss, and the battle was on without quarter asked or given.

Although the Prexies never took the lead, they always threatened to, and only the eight point scoring spree by the Pirates at the opening of the game spelled the difference in the score most of the game. After Thomas's foul, Dick Gherman connected on a field goal, Thomas added a bucket, and Riddle added another as the quarter ended with Central leading, 14-9.

Getting the second stanza underway, Jim Coss, Dick Gherman, and Merle Daum sent up a barrage that was mostly responsible for the team's 29 per cent accuracy rate, and as each garnered 12, 13, and 11 points respectively to do the bulk of the scoring for Harding. Dick Riddle, who has been averaging 12 points a game, was well covered and had a tough time getting free long enough to score three points.

Shoot Accurately

Central's cagers were paced by Bill Bales and Dave Caldwell as each connected for 14 points and top scoring honors for the night. Edell Gray, the Pirate's five-foot-eight-inch playmaker, scored 10. The river boys, controlling the backboard at all times, hit on 40 per cent of their shots, getting most of them on rebounds. Central led at the half, 31-21.

Both teams stayed even in the third quarter, each getting 11 markers. Going into the final period, the Pirates had a ten point lead, but the Presidents were still very much in the ball game and kept on even terms up to the last seconds when Bales, Caldwell and Readout sunk fielders to make their margin of victory bigger than it had been at any time during the game.

Newark, playing in the first game on the program, outclassed and outscored Aquinas, 42-21; Bexley slipped by East, 54-51, and North eked out a 50-46 triumph over a fighting St. Charles team.

Prospect P. and R. Team Wins Over Marysville

Prospect's Pistol and Rifle club won a northwestern Ohio rifle league match Tuesday night on the Prospect range, defeating the Marysville gunmen 930 to 921 out of a possible 1,000. Members of the Prospect squad and their scores in order were D. Hinton, A. Hinton, Blank, White and P. Hoover. Shuey, Hoover, Norris, Gast, Rickey and Redmon also fired on the Prospect team. Marysville's team was composed of H. Bill, Graham, E. Bill, Varrington, Evans, W. Shaw and A. Shaw.

Prospect's last league match for this period will be held on the home range March 16. Sandusky will furnish the opposition for the match.

Other past and future events on the firing range consist of a northwestern league gallery tournament which will be held in Findlay March 14 and will include nine different matches, to run all day.

The Mansfield Y. M. C. A. junior rifle team fired a practice match last Friday which consisted of 10 shots from a prone position, 10 kneeling and 10 standing. Prospect's rifleman, all senior N. R. A. members defeated the Mansfield juniors. The junior circuit shooters are ranking about fifth in the nationwide postal matches, and Miss Bevely Phallen, 17-year-old competitor, is expected to receive an instructor's rating by the National Rifle association in acknowledgment of her fine shooting. Miss Bernhardt fired high of hand score for the juniors. She hit 91 out of 100.

Prospect will fire again against Mansfield, and one against Galion later this month. They will also travel to Richmond, Ind. on March 14 to engage in a match.

Some stretches of the 79-mile-long Albert Canal in Belgium run between 40-foot embankments above the surrounding country.

PROSPECT TOURNEY RESUMES TONIGHT

Ashley Independents To Face Caledonia in 1st Game.

The Prospect Invitional basketball tournament resumes tonight with a two-game bill. Ashley Independents meet the Caledonia Merchants in the first game at 7:30 p. m. in the Prospect High school gym, and Roxy Grill of Delaware plays Marion's Commercial Steel quintet in the second.

The Ashley team is one of the toughest outfits in Delaware county. They have a 17-2 season record. The Caledonia Merchants, paced by Gene Freet, high scoring forward of last year's county champions, is another good ball club.

Commercial Steel, an up and coming aggregation, will meet a loaded Roxy crew. The Steelers have a host of former Kirkpatrick and Pleasant stars on the squad—Jim and Rue Frank, Jim and Frank Reeder, Bob Scott, Jim Hord, Harold Biggerstaff, Lucas Lang, Raymond Somerlot, and Don Harriman. The Roxy squad carries a lineup of former Delaware Willis stars, including Sherry Rowland who played this season with Ohio Wesleyan. Another Roxyman, Bill Blain who scored 25 points in an earlier tourney game, is on the O.W.U. reserve team.

The bill Saturday night will pit Marseilles against the winner of the Ashley-Caledonia tilt, and in the second game, Green Camp K. of P. vs. Schlairet Transfer.

With the excepion of Johnnie Price, former Claridon ace, and Vernon Hensel, a draftee from the Hensel Brothers team, the Green Camp squad is made up of former Green Camp High school players. Vernon went to Marseilles. The Green Campers won the Y. M. C. A. city title last year but have not fared so well this season.

Schlairet Transfer is one of the most powerful outfits in the area. They were undefeated in the first round of play in the Y. M. C. A. Monday league, lost but one game in the second round, and went on to win the Y playoffs and the city title Wednesday night. Their roster included Kenny Somerlot, Harding High school cage mentor, George Keel, Harding freshman coach, and the Dillon boys, Harold, Leo and Junior, whom Somerlot once coached when he was mentor at Harpster. Other Schlairet cagers are Dick Mavaine, Bud England, Don West and Ed Young.

The Prospect tourney closes next week when winners tonight and tomorrow battle in the semi-finals and finals. The first place winner will receive tie chains with gold basketballs and the second place outfit will receive silver tie chains.

Eppa Rixey Earns Scoring Crown with 25.9 Average

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 5—Eppa Rixey, the lofty Kenyon center, owned the Ohio individual college basketball scoring title today.

Eppa burst out with 43 points last night as the Kenyon Lords tripped Ashland, 74-69, in the windup of the Ohio conference season.

Although the Lords carved out only a so-so record this season, Rixey pitched 571 points in 22 games, an average of 25.9 a game. That average was good enough to hold the six-foot, six-inch pivotman in second place nationally among small college point-getters.

Newt Oliver of Rio Grande college held down fifth place.

The Ohio conference had another scoring champ, too. Muskingum college, which finished in fifth place behind Wooster, Ohio Wesleyan, Capital and Toledo, in that order, led the nation's small college fives, averaging 69 points over 22 games.

The Rixey rampage last night topped his efforts in the current season. In an earlier contest Rixey hit the webbing for 35 points.

8 COLLEGE TANK TEAMS POINTING FOR OBERLIN

By The Associated Press

OBERLIN, O., March 5—Eight colleges will attempt to wrest the Ohio conference swimming championship from Oberlin when the 1948 meet is held here tomorrow.

This year's event, the 11th in conference history, promises to be one of the best. Kenyon boasts the best record, being undefeated in eight straight dual meets, and is favored to end Oberlin's two-year domination.

Case Tech, Kent State, Baldwin-Wallace, Ohio Wesleyan, Wittenberg and Wooster will be represented at the meet in addition to Oberlin and Kenyon.

TEXAN'S .429 TAKES MINOR'S SWAT CROWN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 5—James T. Prince of Dallas, Tex., is king of minor league batsmen.

The 200-pound ex-Marine, a 25-year-old first baseman standing six feet two, compiled a .429 average in 108 games for the Class D Midland, Tex., club of the Longhorn loop last season to grab the championship, the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues announced today.

Thus, in his third year of professional baseball, Prince will receive the Louisville Slugger trophy, an engraved, full-size sterling silver bat, awarded annually to the minor leaguer with the highest batting average in 75 per cent of his team's contests.

Training Camp High Spots

By The United Press

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 5 — The New York Yankees' two holdouts, George McQuinn and Charley Wensloff, were warned by Manager Bucky Harris today that they should hurry to camp if they want to hold their jobs.

"If they knew how things shape up around here," chuckled Harris, "they would dash in at once to protect themselves."

The Yankee skipper was obviously well-pleased with his world-champion squad but there was no indication that first-baseman McQuinn and pitcher Wensloff would take his advice.

* * *

TUCSON, Ariz. — Outfielder Dale Mitchell of the Cleveland Indians was restricted to the sidelines today for at least a week because of a pulled muscle.

In a repetition of a similar accident last season, Mitchell pulled a muscle while bending to pick up a baseball.

Bob Lemon and Al Gettel are expected to be the Tribe's pitchers against the New York Giants on Sunday.

* * *

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Manager Eddie Dyer of the St. Louis Cardinals was believed today to have suffered no ill effects from being struck in the head by a batted ball during practice yesterday.

Dyer, walking toward the outfield, was hit by a ball batted by Coach Topy Kauffman and dropped to the ground. He was taken to a hospital in an ambulance, but X-rays disclosed no fracture.

* * *

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Second baseman Frankie Gustine, who underwent a hernia operation during the winter, will be kept out of early exhibition games, Manager Bill Meyer of the Pittsburgh Pirates said today.

Meyer said Hal Gregg, Cal McLish and rookie Forrest Main would pitch against the St. Louis Browns on Sunday.

* * *

TAMPA, Fla. — Johnny Neun, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, today named six pitchers to work in a six-inning intra-squad game tomorrow and three pitchers to face the Detroit Tigers Sunday in the opening exhibition game.

Scheduled for duty tomorrow were Bucky Walters, John Hetki, Harry Gumbert, Howard Fox, Tommy Hughes, and Walker Cress.

The three pitchers Sunday will be chosen from among Ed Erautt, Ken Raffensberger, Ken Holdombe, and Kent Peterson.

* * *

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Manager Mel Ott today planned to use rookie Bobby Rhawn at shortstop tomorrow against the Cleveland Indians, while club president Horace Stoneham issued an ultimatum to regular shortstop—and holdout—Buddy Kerr.

Stoneham said the club would make no further attempt to contact Kerr and that Kerr must come to them. He said Kerr is asking $20,000 and is being offered $18,500.

* * *

LAKELAND, Fla. — Manager Steve O'Neill of the Detroit Tigers said today that he planned to keep on his team throughout the season 10 of the 12 pitchers he has in training camp now.

Speculation immediately tabbed rookie Lou Kretlow, who needs more experience, and veteran Rufus Gentry, as the two most likely to be sent to the minors.

Lesnevich Makes Last Title Defense Tonight

By The United Press

NEW YORK, March 5—More than 18,000 fans were expected to pay about $125,000 to watch grand old Gus Lesnevich make his last defense of the world light heavyweight championship tonight in a return bout with Blackjack Billy Fox at Madison Square Garden.

Muffin-faced Gus, who stopped young Fox in the 10th round of their first fight slightly more than a year ago, announced recently that "win or lose" tonight he never again would attempt to pare down to the 175-pound limit.

The champion from Cliffside, N. J., was favored at 8-5 to make a successful fourth defense of his title despite his age of 33 and despite his weight-making difficulties. Also despite Fox's remarkable record of 50 knockouts in 51 professional fights.

Lesnevich expected to scale exactly 175 pounds; Fox, 147½.

If Gus keeps his crown tonight, he plans to give it up and to campaign as a heavyweight for the rest of the year, after which he would retire.

Farmer Jones Wins Match by Decision

Farmer Jones, wrestling in a return match with Red Lyons at the Armory last night in a grudge battle, pinned Red in 14 minutes of the first fall with a flying jenny before 600 yelling fans at the Armory.

Lyons came back to take the second fall with a leg strangle, but on breaking the hold used dirty tactics and the referee reversed the decision, giving the match to the Farmer.

Bill Murray took the first fall of this match with Al Alexander in 17 minutes with a crab hold, but Alexander threw a new "octapus" hold on him to win the second, and broke Murray's crab hold in the third with a quick flip to win the last fall in four minutes.

The featherweight Barlow boys wrestled to a draw in the 10-minute perliminary match.

CAREY BEATS RECORD DOWNING RIDGEWAY

Big Bill Dennison Meshes 37 in Pacing 62-48 Win.

CAREY, March 5—Carey's Blue Devils prodded Ridgeway in the sectional tournament at Bascom, 62-48, last night. Big Bill Dennison broke the tournament scoring record as he tallied 37 points. He also broke the Wyandot County record and the high school record for total points including regular season and tournament play.

He has scored 265 points in 16 regular games, and thus far in tournament competition has 120 points in five games, for an average of 24 points per tilt. He has 385 points for both season and tournament games.

The Devils, starting slow, took a one point lead in the first period, 14-13, added 11 in the second to 10 for Ridgeway, and then hit for 21 in a big third stanza, and sunk 16 in the final frame as they stepped away from the Ridgeway crew in the last half after leading by two points at the halfway mark, 25-23.

Tallman scored 14 points to take high scoring honors for the boys off the Ridge, and Orians ran second to Dennison for Carey with 10 points.

Deficit Brings Action On Kenton Water Bills

Special to The Star

KENTON—Calling attention to the fact that the city waterworks department is operating at a deficit, Mayor Loucks B. Brown told the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday that 10 per cent will be added to all second quarter water bills not paid by April 15.

By this action, Mayor Brown will invoke an ordinance provision that has been on the record for years but which has never been enforced, he said. Water rate ordinance provides for billing each user on the first of the month starting each quarter. A 10 per cent addition is collectable after the 15th of the month if bills are not paid.

Mayor Brown stated that the Kenton waterworks department ended 1947 with an $1,800 deficit, and that it cannot now operate within its income. He said that at present, about 30 per cent of the water bills are not paid by the 15th of the month in which they are distributed. However, there is less than $200 in delinquent accounts on the waterworks books, he added.
